Dear Dr Lederberg:

I want to thank you for the many kindnesses that were bestowed upon me during my stay as a Visiting Professor at the Rockefeller University.

The graciousness and cooperation that have been extended to me in the use of the enormous facilities of the Rockefeller University, especially in Dr Dole's laboratory, are of a very special kind and have made it possible for me to read and replenish the store of my knowledge and awareness of the international world of science. It is always a joy for me to return here to meet old friends, to make new friends, and benefit from the many symposia, colloquia and lectures that are at our disposal under the aegis of the Rockefeller University.

Especially I want to point out the way I was received by Dr Dole and his group. From the very first day of my stay at the Rockefeller University, Dr Dole helped me in every possible way to enlarge my knowledge of addiction (causes, treatment etc.). I profited a great deal from our many scientific discussions on opiates and alcoholism. I'll never forget his human kindness and friendliness which made me feel completely at home here.

Cordially,

Siniša B. Bogdanović
